satellite radio is the best thing that's come along since FM radio. the signal is 100% quality 100% of the time. not only can i listen to whatever i want when i want , but i don't get exposed to the likes of howard stern's antics without knowingly exposing myself to the possibility of some jackass's opinion without warning. let XM carry the load for those willing to pay for the service. after all it is the "information age".
